Our Honorees

Mort and Micki Naiman, children of Holocaust survivors born in Europe, credit the help their families received to start new lives in America as the inspiration for their lives' work.

As individuals and then as a couple, they have worked tirelessly on behalf of children, seniors, and those who might otherwise fall through the cracks.

Mort has served as the Senior Philanthropy Officer of the Minneapolis Jewish Federation for over 15 years, helping to raise tens of millions of dollars to address individual and community needs in Minnesota, Israel, and in distressed communities around the world. Micki was the welcoming presence at the JCC for many years and she continues to volunteer in the JCC's senior lunch program each week, is currently a co-chair of the JCC's Jewish Film Festival, and has co-chaired events at Temple Israel and for Sholom Community Alliance's "Food for the Soul" event.

Recognizing Mort and Micki's achievements and the many ways in which they have enhanced our community and the lives of so many people is a distinct honor. Their dedication to those in need and the way in which they live their lives—with passion, kindness, and humility—has created an enduring legacy that provides a powerful example for all of us.
